OS+H Asia 2016, the region's dedicated show for workplace safety and health, concludes its successful 10th edition

19 September 2016 – OS+H Asia 2016 organised by Messe Düsseldorf Asia, and held at Suntec Singapore, was a significant success and featured a strong showing at its tenth edition. From 24 to 26 August, the exhibition showcased 199 exhibitors from 25 countries, and saw a robust attendance of more than 4,500 visitors from close to 40 countries. Firmly cementing its position as Singapore's foremost exhibition and total solutions platform for occupational safety and health, the three-day exhibition also presented the largest Singapore Pavilion to date, organised by the Singapore Manufacturers' Federation, with 33 local companies showing their latest innovations, solutions and equipment for a safer and healthier workplace.

On show was also the full suite of the latest workplace safety solutions ranging from personal safety equipment, fire protection products and services, to workplace ergonomic, which were of key relevance to visitors as seen in the growing number of visiting groups and delegations. These visiting delegations included the Republic of Singapore Navy, Singapore Police Coast Guard, Molyntycke Health Care from Thailand, Easteel Services (Malaysia) SDN BHD and Ministry of Defence from Brunei Darussalam. Mr Pengiran Ali Bin Pengiran Haji Metasan, P.S.B, chief auditor of occupational health and safety from Ministry of Defence from Brunei Darussalam observed: "This is my first visit to OS+H Asia. I liked that it is a dedicated and specialised exhibition for the OSH industry. During my visit, I had the opportunity to learn about the latest products in the market and established fruitful contacts for my line of work."

The success of the exhibition was also highlighted in the feedback received from exhibitors, many of which determined to participate in the next edition in 2018. Mr Gernot Ringling, Managing Director, Messe Düsseldorf Asia commented: "We are very delighted with the strong attendance, which demonstrates the relevance and importance of OS+H Asia 2016 to the industry and the role it plays in raising awareness of appropriate OS+H strategies, as well as facilitating sourcing opportunities and business for the sector. The positive feedback received from both exhibitors and visitors is very heartening, and puts OS+H Asia in a very good position moving forward."

The success of this year's exhibition was mirrored in the Forum on Workplace Safety and Health programme that attracted over 200 participants. Jointly organised by Singapore Institution of Safety Officers; Institution of Engineers, Singapore; Institution of Occupational Safety & Health (Singapore Branch); Occupational and Environmental Health Society and Messe Düsseldorf Asia, the expert line-up focused on good practice and experience built-up from leading practitioners and organisations, emerging issues in WSH, competency requirements for WSH professionals and the latest WSH technological advances and innovations.
