Important note for all trips to Iran

State offices and authorities, hotels and service providers in Iran are making the greatest effort, but after years of sanctions on the ground, infrastructure problems and longer waiting times have to be expected. The hotel standard cannot always be measured by the European standards, as there are a lot of ongoing renovations. Also many hotels are owned by the state. This might lead to inavailabilities during highly frequented trade fairs or political delegations from all over the world, even if your hotel is booked and confirmed due to measures or decisions of government agencies.

We do not have any influence on such changes or cancellations, which can also occur shortly before the trip begins, but we will try to accommodate our customers as much as possible in cooperation with our dedicated local partners. We ask for your understanding and special serenity.

Prices of all Persian service providers will not be final until after the Iranian New Year Festival at the end of March 2017. Due to this there might be a price increase of up to 10%. Because of this we reserve the right to postpone the actual price increase. We ask for your understanding.
